One film continues to win awards for excellence, year after year.

The film is Eastman. Each year, the movies that win awards world wide are movies shot on Eastman film. That's because Eastman is the unanimous choice of professional film makers everywhere.

Professionals know the Kodak commitment to quality means Eastman film is always state of the art. They've come to rely on its accurate colour reproduction. They appreciate its fine image structure and wide exposure latitude, plus the fact that Eastman offers a complete range of films for special shooting situations.

For the whole story, talk to your Kodak representative. He'll tell you why Eastman film is always the number one choice.
